ADOBE CinemaDNG Importer is a plugin for the popular After Effects. It will convert video sequences exported in Adobe Camera RAW file format into DNG (Direct Normalized Graphics) image files. The converted images are stored in a compressed, single DNG file format and are not converted into video. The DNG file does not contain any time-code or have any interleaving of video frames in the file. Like other Adobe products, Adobe Camera Raw allows you to take complete control over your images on your computer. The number of adjustments and effects you can make to your images can be overwhelming, so you may find the Camera Raw interface hard to navigate. Adobe CinemaDNG Importer makes it easy to quickly and automatically export any video sequences you are working on in Adobe Camera Raw, as DNG (Direct Normalized Graphics) image files. Adobe CinemaDNG Importer Features: • Simple plug-in for importing any images (DNG) from Adobe Camera Raw into After Effects. • Import of images for After Effects from Adobe Camera Raw in one file. No time-code or other modifications of images to after effects timeline are made. • The plugin does not import images for editing into After Effects. • Ability to directly view images in Adobe Camera Raw. • Ability to export any image to Adobe Camera Raw (also other image types) • Create and manage a folder of imported images. • Ability to copy any image and paste in After Effects. • Ability to resize images. • Ability to rotate images. • Ability to mix original image with any image from imported folder • Ability to use on images any effect from Adobe Photoshop • Ability to use any settings from Adobe Photoshop such as Curves, Vibrance and Smart Sharpen. • Ability to view images in a TV monitor. • Ability to save the image locally as a video sequence. • File directory view and create a folder from imported images. • Render for all local footage. • Support for video formats - H.264 and HDV • Support for movie formats - MPEG-2, DV and MOV • Support for all video sequence length • Support for sequence resolution up to 1920 x 1080 in • Support for File Resolutions ranging from 2MB to 500MB • Support for frame rates up to 200 fps • Export of Exported Frames • Flashback and Flashforward effect • Mix images from imported folder with any images in After Effects

What's New In?

Adobe CinemaDNG is the new image format that encodes high-resolution video streams into a cross-platform open file format. First released for use in Adobe Premiere Pro, Adobe CinemaDNG is designed to be compatible with the TIFF file format. It also uses standard formats for video such as AVCHD and MP4. CinemaDNG can be used with cameras to produce high-resolution image sequences. 1. After you install Adobe CinemaDNG Importer in After Effects CS5, you'll be able to import the image sequence files created in Adobe Premiere Pro CS5 as a Sequence when exporting from your camera. You can also import an MXF file directly as an image sequence. 2. The exported image sequence is encoded in the CinemaDNG format and includes standard metadata tags as well as additional camera information. This information includes the codec and frame rate for the image sequence, and the CINEMA4D sensor. 3. In addition to importing the images from the camera, you can also read the metadata from an existing Cinemadng file. Use this plug-in to import and export CinemaDNG files. You'll be able to import from the following cameras: A Canon XA20 (H.264, MPEG-4 AVC, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDR-AS30 (MPEG-4 AVC, MP4, DCI 4K, DCI 3G, H.264, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDR-AS10 (H.264, MPEG-4 AVC, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDC-HC60 (MPEG-4 AVC, MP4, DCI 4K, DCI 3G, H.264, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDR-HC80 (H.264, MPEG-4 AVC, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDR-HC15 (MPEG-4 AVC, MP4, DCI 4K, DCI 3G, H.264, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDR-HC50 (H.264, MPEG-4 AVC, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDR-HC30 (H.264, MPEG-4 AVC, Stills, VFX) A Sony HDC-SR30 (MPEG-4 AVC, MP4, DCI 4K, DCI 3G, H.264,
