The dead are back. No, we're not talking about Halloween - we're talking about your everyday dead. This zombie outbreak, which began with a single infected soldier who died in a small town in Sweden, spreads exponentially, infecting most of the world's population in just a few hours. The sole survivors? You and your fellow humans. Collect weapons from dead humans and avoid zombies in a search for an exit and the hope of survival. Challenge five different enemies, including the undead and military forces. Explore the world, scavenge for supplies, do research, and upgrade your weapons. Dead Purge: Outbreak features 60 story missions, classic arcade gameplay modes, and several bonus missions that you can unlock. Key Features Over 60 story missions Over 30 weapons and upgrades Multiple game modes A detailed character development A dismemberment system An extensive research system Play in stunning locations: everyday locations and three distinctive settings: the medieval castle, the desert and the underwater ship. The revelation came in an opinion piece published on Thursday by Israeli Knesset Member Robert Saragar. According to Saragar, the massacre was the "natural extension" of a speech delivered by Hamas President Khaled Meshal in which he praised the Allahu Akbar (God is Great) video, and compared the Islamic State (IS) to Judaism. Meshal has been a leading Hamas representative since the mid-1990s. In February 2015 he was appointed as the new leader of Hamas, following the death of Ismail Haniyeh. Meshal's speech, delivered in London during an April, 2014 visit, was published on the official Facebook page of the Hamas government on Monday. In it, he said that Allahu Akbar was "the name of the whole Islamic world, and we must stand firm on our belief that God is Greater and the Islamic world is greater than anyone and anything else in the world." He declared that the current "popular uprising" in the Arab world was a response to the "cruelty and injustice" of the US and Israel, and added: "We have been paying for the crimes committed by them [the US and Israel] for years, and have been expressing our support for them in all suitable ways, especially by fighting those who have fallen victim to their military aggression.” Saragar wrote in his article that the “central message” of Mesh
